To Our Stakeholders,

On behalf of the International Peace Commission (IPC), I am pleased to reaffirm our continued support for the United Nations Global Compact and its Ten Principles in the areas of Human Rights, Labour, Environment and Anti-Corruption.

During the reporting period of August 2025 to August 2026, the International Peace Commission continued to advance these principles through peacebuilding, human-rights advocacy, sustainable-development initiatives, public education, leadership development, community engagement and institutional collaboration.

An important development during this reporting period has been the establishment of the Global SDG Leadership Network (GSLN) – An Initiative of the International Peace Commission (IPC). Through this initiative, IPC has strengthened its efforts to connect the Sustainable Development Goals with responsible leadership and practical action at the community level, while introducing clearer standards for leadership accountability, reporting and engagement.

Our activities during the reporting period have included peace education and community dialogue, environmental and community action, human-rights and SDG awareness, responsible-technology education, leadership training, public advocacy and engagement with civil-society stakeholders.

IPC recognizes that support for the UN Global Compact must be demonstrated not only through statements of commitment, but also through responsible institutional practices and measurable action. Our Communication on Engagement 2026 therefore provides an account of the practical actions undertaken during the reporting period, together with qualitative and, where documented, quantitative outcomes.

We remain committed to strengthening our systems for accountability, documentation and measurement so that our engagement continues to produce meaningful and increasingly measurable results.

This statement forms an integral part of the International Peace Commission Communication on Engagement 2026, covering the reporting period August 2025 – August 2026.

On behalf of the International Peace Commission, I hereby renew our commitment to the United Nations Global Compact and its Ten Principles. We will continue to communicate these principles to our leadership, members, volunteers, civil-society partners, communities and other stakeholders, and we will continue working to translate these commitments into responsible action.

Respectfully,
